Le Terme della Regina Isabella

Health Beauty & Spa

The Health Beauty & SPA of the "Regina Isabella" is also a thermal centre that uses four different thermal springs: the Greek spring, the Renaissance spring, the Roman spring and the Regina Isabella spring. From the island of volcanoes the properties of the "multiactive" waters and muds are well known since over 2000 years for their remarkable regenerative and therapeutic properties. The thermo-mineral springs of Lacco Ameno are "hyperthermal" (80°) with abundant chlorides, sodium, bicarbonate, sulphides and magnesium. They are known as "multiactive" waters because of their numerous beneficial qualities, studied since the early 1900s (when scientific visitors included Marie Curie, the Nobel prize winner) and endorsed in a plethora of medical articles. The muds from the springs of Le Terme della Regina Isabella, gathered in natural caves on the Island of Ischia, are left to macerate for about six months in the thermal water, from which they absorb mineral properties and medicinal qualities.

Six pathways - Well-being/SPA, Relaxation, Beauty, Gym, Rehabilitation, Thermal Dermatology - characterizes the offer of the "Terme della Regina Isabella". Each treatment pathway is designed as a combination specifically tailored to meet every client's needs.

Information about Ischia

Ischia, the biggest of the Gulf of Naples islands, at about 10 miles from the mainland, is known as the Green Island on account of its rampant Mediterranean vegetation or the Island of Good Health, on account of its thermal springs. The fascinating ancient history has become a legend thanks to extraordinary archaeological finds. Ischia, in fact, was already inhabited 7.000 years ago. Visited by the Phoenicians, the Island was discovered by the Greeks and of course by the Romans that made Ischia one of the most important thermal destinations of the Roman Empire. Its landscapes, with breathtaking views and unique characteristics, changes season after season amidst the pristine habitat of valleys and hills, rocks, beaches and promontories, woods and mountains. 37 km of coast and sea, amongst inlets, grottos, bays and strips of sand, corners of paradise where seawater mingles with hot spring water that gushes out just a short distance from the shore. The wealth of treasures hidden under soil, in terms of density of sources, makes Ischia the most important land in Europe with 103 sources, 69 fumaroles and 29 hot springs. Unique and peculiar resource are the thermal parks, with their different temperature pools, Kneipp courses, saunas, Japanese baths, Spa and thermal parks where to spent an entire day among wonderful gardens rich of vegetation surrounding several thermal pools to enjoy a complete relax. The food and wine are authentic treasures of taste, they are accompanied by a millennium-old tradition of D.O.C. wines produced from noble grapes and by many local recipes handed down during the years following the old traditions. Finally the folklore, with hundreds of religious feasts that draw the crowds all over the island during the whole year, but, above all, during the summer season where the enchanting burst of fireworks is the perfect soundtrack to the slow roll of the sea.

Location

Lacco Ameno, location of the hotel, the smallest village of the island, offers enchanting scenery for long coastal walks. In the picturesque Santa Restituta square, facing the hotel, there is an interesting Museum of Archaeology where it is possible to admire a very fine collection of discoveries from the Bronze and Classical Ages.

Climate

Ischia is an island for all seasons. The island's climate is mild and temperate throughout the year. Average temperatures in summer are between 25-30 C, in spring and autumn between 18-24 C. The sea is usually warm enough for swimming from May-October.
